WE DO TRANSLATION

We are part of

Rooted in patents, with burgeoning expertise, we've branched out in every field. Helping you communicate quickly and easily, candidly and effectively. From every language to every language.

INNOVATION

Language services for innovation, innovation for language services

InnovaLang was founded in 2011 by a group of translation experts. We have two offices, an in-house staff of ten, dozens of translators and editors working regularly with us, and a freelance roster that runs into the hundreds.

From our roots in the patent world (27,000+ patents translated) and the technical, scientific, legal, marketing and web arenas, we've expanded over the years into every sector that needs translations, adopting selected technologies to keep enhancing our quality of service.

InnovaLang stands for both Innovation in Languages and the Language of Innovation, concepts we have long embraced with over 27,000 patents translated to date.

ETHICAL

We do our bit to build a sustainable, ethical professional environment.

You can make a masterpiece.
But if you translate it badly,
the entire effect will be lost.

Quality control for us is not an optional extra; it is always a key part of our workflow.

Translation is a serious business for professionals only, and professionals are central to what we do. Every time.

Saving on translation costs might sound appealing. But putting your products and services in the hands of the cheapest agencies or translators will surely cost you more in the end – when you have to redo everything or, in the best-case scenario, when you lose sales by putting your international credibility at risk.

At InnovaLang, we use language technology and innovations when they help to achieve quality. And we base our processes around people: from clients and consultants to staff and suppliers.
